

Dr. Saponieri Specialties Certification

Cardiovascular Disease

American Board of Internal Medicine (ABIM) certification in the subspecialty "Cardiovascular Disease" assures that the Physician possesses the knowledge, skills, and experience requisite to the provision of high-quality patient care. To maintain board certification, the Physician requires additional training and examination and must participate in an extensive process that involves completing accredited education and subspecialty training and periodic oral and written exams to demonstrate competency in the field of Cardiovascular Disease. A Cardiovascular disease specialist is an Internist who specializes in diseases of the heart and blood vessels and manages complex cardiac conditions such as heart attacks and life-threatening, abnormal heartbeat rhythms.

Clinical Cardiac Electrophysiology

American Board of Internal Medicine (ABIM) certification in the subspecialty "Clinical Cardiac Electrophysiology" assures that the Physician possesses the knowledge, skills, and experience requisite to the provision of high-quality patient care. To maintain board certification, the Physician requires additional training and examination and must participate in an extensive process that involves completing accredited education and subspecialty training and periodic oral and written exams to demonstrate competency in the field of Clinical Cardiac Electrophysiology. Clinical Cardiac Electrophysiology is a field of special interest within the subspecialty of cardiovascular disease, which involves intricate technical procedures to evaluate heart rhythms and determine appropriate treatment.

This information is proprietary data maintained in a copyrighted database compilation owned by the American Board of Medical Specialties. Copyright 2015 American Board of Medical Specialties. All rights reserved. It is the user's responsibility to ensure that the profile obtained in this directory is that of the physician being sought.